SAN DIEGO WOMAN,
TEXAS CHILD DIE
IN BRUTAL CRIMES

Police Of California and Texas Cities Are Baffled

San Diego, Cal., April 24—(AP)—Peace officers, worn by their efforts to solve the gruesome slayings of Virginia Brooks, 11-year-old school girl, and Louise Teuber, 17, were confronted by a third mystery killing here today.

The body of Mrs. W. D. Bibbens, 35, was discovered in her apartment last night. Officers were unable to determine immediately whether she had been strangled or her throat had been cut. A newspaper dated April 16, found in the room indicated the approximate time of death.

Mrs. Bibbens usually wore many jewels and was a follower of the Agua Caliente races. The apartment had been ransacked and gave evidence of a violent struggle.

Captain of Detectives Paul Hays said her jewels were missing and robbery may have been the motive. He sought a man who he said, had occupied the apartment with Mrs. Bibbens until recently. Walter W. Bartleman, 63, elevator operator, was held for questioning. Captain Hays said Bartleman answered the description of a man who aided Mrs. Bibbens in leasing the apartment last fall. Close friends knew little of her past life.

This killing came just five days after Miss Teuber's body was found dangling from a tree near here. Two state criminologists then were still here aiding police and Sheriff's officers in their attempt to solve the slaying of Virginia Brooks, whose body was found in a gunnysack on Camp Kearney Mesa, March 11.

TEXAS GIRL SLAIN.

San Antonio, Tex., April 24—(UP)—Detectives searching for the slayer of Merle Springer, 11-year-old school girl whose body was found in a ditch with 22 stab wounds in the breasts set a watch around a suspect's home today after bloodhounds had traced out a cold trail without results.

The girl's body was found late Wednesday by her stepfather, Elmo Dickey, when she failed to return home from school. She was killed only 300 yards from her home in Leming, south of here, and 100 yards from where she waved goodbye to her school friends and started home alone.

Near the ditch where Merle's body lay, officers found a bloody jumper and suit of overalls. Taking the scent from there, gamblers, bloodhounds led officers to the edge of this city, where the trail ended.

Merle was buried here yesterday beside her father's grave.

A hunt for the child began Wednesday when she failed to return home from school. Four of her schoolmates waved goodbye to her about 5 P. M. as she started toward her home.

Nearly an hour later her stepfather found the body.

The child had not been attacked, officers said, and no motive for the murder was known. Stab wounds in the girl's breast appeared to have been made by a pocket knife, although no weapon was found.

Dog Died In Effort
To Save Mistress

Chicago, Apr. 24—(UP)—The death of a child was mourned today in the home of Benjamin Eckley and mourned also was the death of a pet dog, Laddie, who gave his life in an unsuccessful attempt to save his little mistress.

Laddie had no pedigree, but the Eckleys trusted him and did not hesitate to leave their two children, Marjorie, 2½, and Jackie, 6, alone with him when they left late yesterday to take some equipment to Eckley's new tailor shop in Forest Park.

It was growing dusk when Gilbert Beranek, who works for Eckley, heard Laddie barking and clapping frantically at the rear door of the old shop where the children and dog had been left.

Beranek broke open the door. Jackie stumbled out, unhurt but blinded temporarily by smoke. Beranek tried to enter. Flames drove him back. He called firemen, who extinguished the blaze quickly.

In the middle of the room they found Laddie, dead. Under his body was Marjorie, unconscious. Her clothes showed Laddie had dragged her as far as he could, then lay on top of her while the flames seared his flesh. She died an hour later.

NORMAL AMBITION

Rockford, Ill., Apr. 24—(AP)—A boy's ambition to become an aviator and parachute jumper is not an indication of insanity, Judge George T. Liddell ruled.

The ruling was given yesterday in the case of Bernard Frances, 15, against whom the State's Attorney filed a petition for a sanity hearing after the boy's father had him arrested.

"In fact," the court held, "his desire is entirely normal." At the same time he ordered expunged from the records all reference to the sanity hearings so it "might not embarrass him in later years."

STOLEN TRUCK FOR MEAL

Kansas City, Mo., Apr. 24—(UP)—Anthony C. Skrocki, 20, drove to the police station and shouted for an officer to come out.

Patrolman A. E. Green responded. "Arrest me quick," said the youth. "I've just stolen this truck. I haven't had a thing to eat for three days and it must be about time to eat in there."

He pointed to the jail.

At the Sergeant's desk Skrocki said automatic machinery put him out of a job in Pittsburgh; he carried some, but too many golfers carry their own bags; he had washed dishes, but that occupation was getting crowded; he didn't want to throw a brick through a window to get arrested, for he had a prejudice against destroying property, so he drove to the police station in the stolen truck.

An officer sent for a tray of food. Skrocki ate and settled back to await a hearing in police court today.

MISDIRECTED ENERGY

Chicago, Apr. 24—(AP)—In the summer, fall and winter, Detective Sergeant Anton Schultz concentrates on crook catching, but the spring finds him going in for a bit of horticulture on the side.

This spring was no exception. Spurred on by a warm sun and a suggestion from Mrs. Schultz, he decided to grow things, not only for himself, but for all the neighbors in his block. Home therefore he came with 200 young shoots.

"Plum trees" he proclaimed to Mrs. Schultz. "I'll not only plant 'em for myself but all the neighbors shall have some too. We'll fix 'em so they'll be uniform up and down the block."

Days of activity followed. Sergeant Schultz perspired in the sun with his planting. So did the neighbors.

Then they settled back to let nature do the rest.

Things went along nicely until yesterday when all the children in the block came home from school, carrying plants exactly like the Sergeant's.

"Where," asked their parents, "did you get these nice plum trees?"

"Plum trees?" questioned the children. "Why these are pussywillows."

200-POUND MAN KILLED BY HIS
EX-SWEETHEART

Police Doubt Story Of Girl That She Took
Gun From Him

Flint, Mich., April 24—(UP)—A girl who described herself as Helen Morgan of Chicago, was held today on a charge of taking her 200-pound sweetheart on a typical gangster "ride," shooting him five times, dragging his body among the tombstones in a cemetery, and then driving away.

Police said Miss Morgan pleaded that she had shot Les Casteel, her sweetheart, in self defense when they quarrelled after he called her a "stool pigeon" because of his arrest on a charge of arson.

The first report of the slaying was received by Detective Ray J. Martin, whom a motorist told of seeing a girl dragging a bulky object into the cemetery last night. Martin investigated and found Casteel's body among the tombstones. He arrested Miss Morgan at once knowing of her friendship with Casteel.

The detective said he doubted Miss Morgan's story that she and Casteel had fought and that she had taken the gun away from the 200-pound man before shooting him. Martin said he had information she had owned the gun several months.

The arson charge against Casteel was dismissed two weeks ago when Miss Morgan, the state's chief witness, failed to appear against him.

DIXON WOMAN, ONCE ACTRESS
WITH FAMOUS GERMAN ACTOR.
HEARS HIM ASK HER ADDRESS

Radio Request Interrupted Evening
Of Bridge

Recently a group of eight people were playing bridge one evening in a home in north Dixon. The radio was turned on. About 10 o'clock a program was being broadcast from the Paramount studios in New York City. A beautiful song came in over the ether and the announcer then said the song was dedicated to "Mrs. Charles Howard."

Since Mrs. Charles Howard, as well as her husband, happened to be in the room, there was much interest when Mr. Howard, who was the first to hear the announcement, called attention to it. Interest turned to excitement when the announcer said he was Emil Jannings (famous German actor) and that he would like to know the present address of Mrs. Charles Howard, whose maiden name was Hertha Kassel. He said that if she or any of her friends were listening in he would like to have them communicate with him at Hollywood, California. The same message was broadcast again at midnight.

Has Been In Picture
Mrs. Howard was in pictures with Emil Jannings in the Vere studios in Hamburg, Germany. For a number of years before going into the movies she was on the legitimate stage in Germany. She is very beautiful and charming and one wonders why she is not starting in some of our great pictures now.

Mrs. Howard and her husband have resided in Dixon for several years. Mr. Howard is a brother of Mrs. George Campbell of this city.

Mrs. Howard's reply to Mr. Jannings' request reached Hollywood after he had left. He sailed for Germany Monday and will receive Mrs. Howard's message in Berlin.

REPORT KELLEY,
DAZED, IS SEEN
IN SAINT LOUIS

Restaurant, Garage Owners
Say That They Saw Physician

St. Louis, Mo., Apr. 24—(UP)—Dr. Isaac Kelley, missing wealthy physician for whose ransom a demand of $100,000 was removed served last night, was observed alone in a restaurant here early today, two acquaintances told police.

James Markedes, owner of the restaurant, and Paul Johnson, garage attendant, declared that "Dr. Kelley" wearing thin-rimmed glasses appeared dazed and had a large bruise on his face.

The two said they hesitated to question "Kelley" and while Markedes telephoned police, the man walked out. Johnson said he tried to follow, "but lost him within a couple of blocks."

Dr. Kelley's residence denied he had returned, or that any clue to his whereabouts had been received.

The physician has been missing since Monday night when he left on what he supposed to be a mission of mercy. Twelve hours later his abandoned motor car was found on a lonely road.

Two Letters Received

Two urgent letters were received at the Kelley home last night. It was reported that one was from Dr. Kelley and outlined a gang of kidnapers' demands for $100,000. Friends of the family denied this, but gave conflicting explanations for the communications.

Markedes' story added another mysterious touch to the disappearance of the physician.

The restaurant owner said he was at the cashier's desk when "Dr. Kelley" finished and came forward to pay the check.

"I am looking for Dr. Kelley," the man said.

"Aren't you Dr. Kelley?" Markedes asked him.

According to the restaurant proprietor, the man looked dazedly at him, then left the restaurant without replying.

The restaurant is little more than one block from the Beaumont building, where Kelley the night he often ate in the restaurant, and served his automobile in the garage where Johnson worked.

Police, while inclined to be skeptical of the identification, admitted that Markedes and Johnson's description of the clothes worn by the dazed man, coincided with the wear of Kelley the night he disappeared, with the exception of the overcoat.

One Detail Different

The doctor wore a grey cravenette Monday night. The man in the restaurant had on a dark blue overcoat.

Newspapermen and detectives who waited outside the Kelley's beautiful stone residence through the night, said they were positive no one had entered since the restaurant incident, which was at 2 a. m.

Markedes said, "Dr. Kelley" sat down at a table and ordered a meal. He said he was immediately certain it was Dr. Kelley, because Kelley never wore glasses.

"I called in Johnson to make, sure, and if he agreed with me," Markedes said. "We were afraid to talk to the man, because of his apparent condition."

Kelley is six feet two in height, of athletic build.

Markedes then notified police.

Johnson ran out to get someone to care for the garage and was absent when the customer paid his check.

When Johnson got back the man had left. The garage man ran in the direction the customer took.

"Although I believe I saw him in the distance when he first came out, I lost him in a couple of blocks," Johnson said.

UNREST FOUND EVERYWHERE IN
THE OLD WORLDWhile Dissention Has Added Troubles In
The New World

By LOUISE F. KEEMLE

(United Press Cable Editor)

New York, Apr. 24—(UP)—The

world, already suffering under the heavy burden of universal economic depression, added to its troubles today by dissention, unrest in a quarreling.

Trouble spots have broken out

from east to west and north to south. Even the normally placid

island of Iceland has been affected,

and the tiny Madeira islands are in revolt against Portugal.

The political unrest begun in Spain

has spread to many parts of Europe.

Paris heard there are prospects of ending the dictatorship in Portugal,

which might have serious consequences.

The fall of the Liapcheff cabinet in Bulgaria caused uneasiness

over the prospects of trouble in the Balkans. Similar troubles occurred

in Roumania and the prospects of a dictatorship were talked of abroad.

Possibly of more moment was the strain between France and Italy over their naval negotiations, which appeared to have reached an impasse.

A total disagreement most likely would lead to a naval race which might affect England, then the United States and Japan.

United Press dispatches from China told of a serious situation

there, with the hands of armies out of hand and invading the north, operating up to the walls of Peking.

The New World found trouble in plenty. The revolution in Honduras assumed menacing proportions, while the Nicaraguan rebels continued

their operations. Both situations

affected the United States indirectly.

Indirect dispatches reported gains

by rebels operating in Venezuela.

Paraguay was called on to squelch

a revolutionary attempt. Peru announced the discovery of a revolutionary plot.

A governmental crisis appeared

for a time to be threatened in Argentina, although President Jose

Uriburu announced he would stay in power.

Publishers Object

To Radio Programs

New York, Apr. 23—(AP)—The

American Newspaper Publishers' Association adopted today three resolutions designed to meet radio competition.

One suggested that radio programs

"if published, should be handled as

paid advertising."

Another resolution dealt with the

investigation of "the legality of radio

broadcasting of direct advertising."

The third recommended an amendment to the federal radio laws prohibiting the broadcast of lottery advertising.

Announcement of the action was made after the meeting, which was closed to reporters. It was stated that several speakers had advocated

the publication of radio programs

only as paid advertising, and that two of three publishers had reported they had ceased publication of radio programs without receiving any objections from their readers.

Two Men Fell Or

Leaped To Death

Chicago, Apr. 24—(UP)—A police

investigation was underway today into

the death of Frederick D. Hoffman,

51, official of the Chicago Surface

Lines since 1914, killed in a fall from a fifth floor fire escape last night at

D. A. R. Hears State Department Attack- ed By Congressman

BULLETIN

Washington, April 24—(UP)—Mrs.
James Franklin Trotman, Milwaukee, Wis., who was defeated yesterday for office as Vice President-General of the Daughters of the American Revolution, charged today in a formal statement that there had been wronged against her a "false and malevolent campaign" in which she was described as a pacifist and a Socialist.

Washington, Apr. 24—(AP)— Daughters of the American Revolution
were told today that the State Department had not cooperated
fully with the special House committee which investigated Communism.

Representative Fish of New York,
chairman of the committee, made
the statement in a speech which already had been edited with his consent. D. A. R. officers had eliminated some of his references to the new Nicaraguan policy.

The special committee, Fish said,
had the assistance of "every executive department of the government with the exception of the State Department."

"I repeatedly asked the Secretary of State in writing what the policy
or practice of the State Department
was in carrying out the laws of Congress with reference to the admission of Communists," Fish asserted,
"but he never furnished the committee with any satisfactory information."

Fish added that with one exception—Robert F. Kelley, Chief of the Eastern European Division—State Department officials "appear to know little about Soviet Russia or the activities of the Communists here
or in European or South American countries."

He welcomed the department's proposed study of the Russian situation,
saying he would "try to be hopeful that Secretary Stimson will find a way to dam the flood of false propaganda now flowing with unrestrained
violence from the communistic dissent in the United States into the nations comprising our friendly neighbors in South America."

The A. I. A. Anti-Imperialist
League, Fish said, is constantly sending out from New York office
"poisonous propaganda of hate,
to all Latin-American countries, depicting the United States as a great bully seeking to grab up and devour
all Central America and Mexico."

Fish predicted that from investigation the State Department would
"learn that ever since the Communists were expelled from Mexico,
New York City has become the central Communist headquarters for propaganda and revolutionary activities in Mexico, Cuba, Panama,
Central America and parts of South America."

Sublette Couple Honored By Many Friends On Monday

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Dinges, prominent Sublette couple celebrated their sixtieth wedding anniversary on Monday, April 20th. A high mass was celebrated at St. Mary's church,
the same church in which they were married just sixty years ago. The mass was said at 8 o'clock by Rev.
Father Wietekamp and was attended by a number of friends and relatives. Mr. Dinges was unable to attend on account of illness.

A wedding breakfast was served at the home to about twenty relatives, after the mass and all during the day friends gathered at the home
to congratulate Mr. and Mrs. Dinges
on this enjoyable occasion.

Mr. Peter Dinges and Miss Christina Schaub, both of Sublette township were united in marriage at St.
Mary's church in Sublette on April 20, 1871 by Rev. Father Beidts and they have made their home in that community all their married lives.

Shortly after their marriage the couple went to farming in Knox Grove where they lived until about twenty years ago, when they retired and moved to Sublette where they have since made their home.

Mr. and Mrs. Dinges have eight children all of whom were with their parents on this occasion. They are:
Mrs. Margaret Theiss, Sublette; Jacob Dinges, Mendota; John Dinges, Sublette; Cornelius, Sublette; George
of West Brooklyn; Fred of Sublette; Mrs. Chas. Kuebel and Miss Katherine of Sublette. They also have twenty-nine grandchildren and nine great grandchildren.

in 1844 and came to America with his parents in 1854, settling in Sub-quite young. She celebrated her 80th birthday in Christian town on

Queen Shopped In New York And No One Knew Of Visit

New York, Apr. 24—(AP)—New York, with its inexhaustible supply of top hats, tickler-tape and noise for its official welcomes, awakened today to discover that it had missed
its most distinguished guests in years.

King Pradjahpook and Queen Rambai Barni of Siam slipped into town in a driving rain, had lunch
and tea, visited a doctor's office, shopped and slipped out again with only a handful of people knowing of it until the morning newspapers appeared today. As evidence of their visit packages and boxes from exclusive shops today were streaming into Ophir Hall at Purchase, N. Y., where the royal couple are making their residence during their visit in the United States.

The King and Queen left Ophir
Hall late yesterday morning accompanied by an automobile carrying United States secret service operatives—their only escort. They drove to the apartment of Mr. and Mrs.
Ogden Reid in East Eighty-Fourth street and there had lunch. When that had been finished, Queen Rambai Barni and Mrs. Reid made a shopping tour, and the King drove to the office of Dr. John M. Wheeler, who will perform an operation to remove a cataract from one of the King's eyes.

Later in the afternoon the royal couple met again at the Reid's
home, and then drove back to Purchase. Ophir Hall is the country estate of Mrs. Whitelaw Reid, mother of Ogden Reid.

All Invited To G. A. R. Memorial At Their Hall Sunday

o'clock in G. A. R. hall in memory of the comrades and members of the corps who have passed on during the year. The families and friends of the deceased ones are invited to attend these services. The corps officers are requested to be present and wear white. The address will be given by Rev. W. W.
Marshall.

The regular meeting of Dixon corps will be held Monday afternoon, April 27th at 2:30 o'clock.

F. AND S. CLUB IN HAPPY EVENING MEET—

The F. and S. club met last evening with Mrs. William Hutton. A picnic dinner was enjoyed after which bridge was the diversion. Mrs. Hutton was awarded high honors, Mrs.
Herbert Hoon the second prize and Mrs. Richard Pomeroy the consolation trophy.

Plaque Marks House Where Frenchman Wrote Masterpiece

By MARY KNIGHT

United Press Staff Correspondent
Paris—(UP)—A memorial plaque has been placed on the old residence
where the French master of the short story, Guy de Maupassant, wrote his masterpieces, "Boule de Suif."

The ceremony took place before literary celebrities and officials of Paris
in the rue Clauzel, between the rue Henri Monnier and the rue des Martyrs, where the ancient landmark is still intact.

"Boule de Suif," is considered by many critics as the best story written by de Maupassant and the house in which he wrote it is also the house in the celebrated story lived. She was a kindhearted if simple-minded French daughter of joy and her fame will live long through the pen of the famous writer.

De Maupassant gained his first real recognition through this particular story, which is another reason for honoring the house in which it was written. He was in the habit of visiting the house of Emile Zola, who was at the height of his fame, with Huysmans and many other young and unknown writers. Every Sunday

"Princess Alice" Scouts Rumor She Will Enter Arena

Fears and hopes—that Alice Rosevelt Longworth would take an active part in politics following her husband's death have been dispelled by the "Princess" herself.

Commenting on a vice-presidential boom started in her behalf by a Minnesota newspaper, she announced that the statement made by her brother, Archie Roosevelt, two weeks ago would stand. The brother's statement said:

"My sister never has sought political office; I do not believe she will enter politics."

To most of Washington this indicates quite conclusively that she will continue her activity behind the scenes, attending committee hearings, listening to speeches by the Senate's more outstanding orators, resuming her chosen role of unofficial prompter—but not deciding into the political arena itself.

When Nicholas Longworth died
many discussed the possibility of his widow's candidacy to succeed him
in Congress. It was considered possible that her personality might lead to the Republican standard
the "Longworth" district in Cincinnati, which "Nick" nearly lost last November.

Reports from Ohio are to the contrary. While the Longworths have lived in Cincinnati for more than a century, "Princess Alice" never has been looked upon as a Cincinnati-
ian. Rather, with the Roosevelt name and tradition, she is a Washingtonian, and is expected to resume as far as possible her position in Washington social and unofficial political life.

Whether this will be entirely possible without the prestige of her husband's high office as a springboard is doubted by some. They feel her personal power may deminish somewhat, with the Roosevelt
name now a memory, and in view of the hostility she is reported to have incurred through her social tactics in the case of Congressmen's wives.

It has been suggested that her memiors would make highly interesting reading—entertaining if perhaps indiscreet. Certain it is that financial considerations would not prompt her to write them, as she will not find it necessary to augment her income by her own efforts.
If she does publish her reminis-

a group of friends would get together
and on one occasion it was suggested that each one should write a war
story, to make up a volume. Zola consented generously to contribute which assured them the success of their venture. The next day Zola wrote
"The Attack of the Mill," the manuscript of which is now in the possession of Edward W. Titus.

"None of us thought of De Maupassant as being especially talented," Zola is reported to have made comment. When the tall blond young man appeared the following Sunday,
however, with a manuscript in his pocket, his companions listened first through courtesy, and afterwards
with caught breath and with tears in their eyes. Zola was the first to congratulate him. Flaubert was immediately generous with his praise.
Huysmans opened a bottle of wine
and the company was thoughtful and hilarious in turns.

Since then, "Boule de Suif" has been translated into every known
tongue and the story of the fat girl
who shared her lunch with her fellow travelers and was snubbed the next day for having yielded to a Prussian officer, remains a favorite of all time
with the admirers of De Maupassant.

Mrs. Hoover Sort Of "Assistant" To President-Hubby

By PAUL R. MALLON

(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Washington, April 23—(UP)—A new unofficial post of "Assistant President" has been awarded, without salary, to Mrs. Herbert Hoover
by the President.

While there has been no formal appointment, the Chief Executive
has created the post by calling upon the First Lady frequently to assist him in duties beyond the functions of a mistress of the White House.

Mrs. Hoover has represented the Chief Executive at two functions in the past few weeks, and it is understood she will take his place on another occasion this week.

It has not been the custom for the wives of Presidents to make speeches or to act in any save a social capacity. Only since the adoption of the women's suffrage
amendment have they participated
to any great extent in the functions of the Executive office.

Mrs. Harding was the first wife to be identified prominently with an administration. Mrs. Coolidge appeared alone only at small women's social gatherings.

The first indication that Mrs.
Hoover was to play a more prominent part in the national affairs came when she delivered a national radio broadcast on unemployment
while the President was enroute to Porto Rico. In that speech she told the country how the President felt about several matters. She gave expression to administration views concerning the subject. Her remarks were recorded by the sound
movies in the same manner as Presidential speeches.

This week she represented the President at the convention of the Daughters of the American Revolution. Mr. Hoover found his datebook so crowded he could not attend and sent Mrs. Hoover instead.

She made a short speech in which she welcomed the delegates and thanked them for the opportunity of being present at their gathering.
Arrangements now are being made for her to go to Baltimore
Friday as a sort of Presidential representative at Goucher College exercises. It is understood she will be awarded a degree for her Girl Scout work.

Mrs. Hoover also is much more active as mistress of the White House than her predecessors. She has revised the decorations on a small scale. Pieces of furniture which were out of keeping with the general tone of the house have been eliminated and other pieces installed.

She is an enthusiastic motorist
and she takes long trips alone, driving her own car. She uses it also in shopping sometimes in Washington. She never has had a mishap.

ject of which is flower gardening.
Plans will also be made for the county tour to be made April 29 in in-

THE CAUSE OF CRIME.

No more pictures dealing with the underworld will be produced by the Paramount-Public Corporation. S. R. Kent, vice-president in charge of distribution, made this announcement the other day—taking pains, at the same time, to deny emphatically that gangster movies have been responsible for crime waves.

This action came only a few days after Police Commissioner Mulrooney of New York had charged that motion pictures and tabloid newspapers were chiefly responsible for the increase of crime among city youths.

Mr. Kent, explaining his company's action, said simply that crime pictures have been overdone and that the public is tired of them. Thus, while he does not accept Commissioner Mulrooney's criticism, he at least takes an action that ought to help make the commissioner happy.

The general public probably will welcome a diminution in the number of gangster movies. The general public also is at least partially in agreement with the New York commissioner; and the whole business needs a little more intelligent consideration than it usually gets.

An impressionable youngster may, now and then, be led into crime by a lurid movie; but in general it is safe to say that blaming the movies for the gang wars of the big cities is nothing but an easy way out of a perplexing situation.

As long as we can soothe our conscience by an "explanation" of that kind we shall continue to have crime waves. Indeed, one of the big reasons for bad crime conditions in American cities is the fact that all of us are content to find some obvious scapegoat like the moving picture.

We blame the movie and the tabloid and conveniently forget about the bad housing conditions that provide crime with its best spawning ground.

We blame the movie and the tabloid and overlook the fact that half a dozen good playgrounds, properly placed and rightly directed, would do more to keep city children from going astray than all the "uplift" in the world.

We blame the movie and the tabloid and shut our eyes to the fact that every one of us who buys a pint of gin helps to pay for the upkeep of the army of professional gunmen. We overlook the social and economic conditions that produce big city gangs—because fixing those conditions so that they would no longer produce gangs would be altogether too much trouble. Being lazy, we prefer to put up with the gangs. Why not blame them on the movies and the news papers? It's so much easier.

It's just about time that we gave up these cheap excuses. The roots of organized crime today go right to the foundations of American society. Cheap movies have no more to do with it than the price of bustles in Afghanistan.

MR. HAMPDEN AND THE CRITICS.

The Dreiser-Lewis face-slapping episode, which aroused the literary world recently, has found its parallel in the theatrical realm. Walter Hampden, the actor, on the one hand, and a formidable group of New York critics on the other, have engaged in a verbal fisticuffing that has helped enliven an ordinary dull season.

The critics, it seems, provoked Mr. Hampden by their cool reception toward the current production of Barrie's "The Admirable Crichton." They disliked particularly Mr. Hampden's performance in it. They found his characterization old-fashioned, heavy, outmoded.

In the tradition of the wounded actor, Mr. Hampden showed his temperament in a biting retaliation. He told interviewers that "the dramatic reviewers of today... have lost all sense of public trust and obligations to the theater. The stock in trade of most of them seems to be not opinions but a knack of phrase-making. They are too enamored of their own wit to be of any use."

Mr. Hampden undoubtedly will find many sympathizers, especially because he is one against many. But his charges against the critics can hardly stand. Show reviewers today profess to be no William Winters. They know that this generation has neither the time nor inclination to absorb scholarly analysis of the drama. They write their reviews divertingly with wit, to be sure, because the age demands that sort. But to say the reviewers devote their energies to scintillating phrases at the expense of honest opinion is to declare an untruth. Essentially they are reporters and are held to a high standard of fairness.

Wee Clowzy watched the little tots a while and then said, "Lots and lots of times I think I know a heap, but now I feel I'm dumb. You Chinese youngsters work away, while I just spend my time in play. Some times I fear that though I tried, I couldn't add a sum."

One of the Chinese tots just smiled and said, "You are a lucky child. You travel all around the world and see a heap of things. That way, you can not help but learn. For such a nice long trip I earn. But I will have to wait and see just what the future brings."

The Travel Man then said, "Well, we have lots of other things to see. We're going now to Hangchow, which is miles and miles away. I've planned so we can take a boat and you can all sleep while we float across the deep blue waters. Come, let's be upon our way."

And so they went down to the dock. Said Coppy, "Will the big boat rock?"

"Oh, no," replied the Travel Man. "It's safe as it can be." "All right," said Coppy, "I don't mind if we leave Hongkong far behind." And shortly they were sailing out across the deep blue sea.

The trip was pleasant, all the way. There came a very loud "Hurray!" when Mister Travel Man announced "Come on, we've landed safe and sound." They scampered to the shore and then began to look around again. Some two-wheeled, funny buggies were the first things that they found.

"Oh, let us take a ride," cried one. "I know twill be a lot of fun." The Travel Man replied, "Why sure? We will not miss a thing!" Each Tynmite then spread a grin and very shortly hopped right in. And as they jogged along the street they all began to sing.

FIGHTING AT MONCHY

On April 24, 1917, the British and Germans engaged in a terrific struggle in the village of Monchy, east of Arras. The British, by their attacks and counter-attacks won and held important ground. The German loss was enormous.

Philip Gibbs, war correspondent, vividly describes the scene of battle. He saw the town a heap of broken walls and skeleton barns. "At 10 o'clock yesterday morning," he reported, "strong bodies of Bois Vert and, in spite of heavy losses from British machine gun fire and field batteries, succeeded in driving back part of the British foremost line. "Four thousand Germans of a fresh division gathered in the Bois du Sart for a further attempt to break the line, but they were seen by the British flying officers, and the British batteries filled the wood with gas shells so that great slaughter was done there. This body of men was literally shelled to death, and it was a human hell in that wood under the blue sky."

In February, 1909, President Roosevelt created a temporary newspaper sensation by covering 98 miles on horseback between daylight and dark. He made use of three horses in his 17 hours of riding.

THAT advertising is one of the most important parts of every business.

Advertising must be done in a way that will stimulate a more favorable attitude toward the business advertised.

It must be done in a way that will best attract attention to the merchandise for sale.

It is a good idea to change things around often, arrange stocks so they will look a little different to the customers. The same old set-up gets tiresome; a good looking stock helps sales.

It is the customers who make business possible, so too much attention cannot be given to service. Advertising will bring the customers to the door, but it takes the right service linked to the right goods to sell them.

The right kind of advertising is necessary to develop new business. It won't do all the work, but it will do more than its share.

Advertising is service. People are expecting this service. Business concerns who do not give the people what they expect are just losing—that's all.

Shot Husband Three Times: Gave Self Up

Chicago, April 23—(UP)—Mrs. Vera Stephens, 33, wounded her husband, Clarence W. Stephens, 31, Chicago Motor Coach Company dispatcher, three times today and surrendered to North Robey street police.

wood hospital in a serious condition. All three bullets struck him in the body.

Mrs. Stephens hysterically told the police that her husband attempted to attack her, tearing her waist, and followed her into a bedroom, where she obtained a .32 caliber revolver and fired at him. She said he had been drinking heavily.

No Opinions Filed On Two Big Cases

Springfield, Ill., April 24—(AP)—Adjourning their April session, justices of the Supreme Court late yesterday afternoon announced they had not acted on the women on jurists act, nor the tax anticipation warrant cases, because they were not filed early enough to give time for necessary consideration. The court indicated that vacation opinions would be handed down in each of the two cases.

ILLINOIS PLANS REDEDICATION OF LINCOLN'S TOMB

President Hoover To Officiate At Ceremony June 17th.

Springfield, Ill., April 24—(AP)—Illinois is preparing to receive the President of the United States when he comes here June 17 to rededicate the tomb of Abraham Lincoln that was given to the nation so many years ago by another president—U. S. Grant.

Reconstruction of the tomb which covers the ground that holds all that remains of the Civil War President is almost completed, and the state now faces the task of arranging its program to welcome a President to the hallowed cemetery for the first time in 20 years.

Seven presidents have bowed their heads at the grave of the martyr since his death. Two others have been here although they were not president at the time.

Just two years after Lincoln's body was received in the temporary vault in Oak Ridge cemetery, two miles north of the State Capitol building here, Andrew Johnson, the man who succeeded him in the presidential chair, stopped to reverently kiss his forehead. President Grant, the next chief executive, dedicated the tomb. Rutherford B. Hayes, Benjamin Harrison, William McKinley, Theodore Roosevelt and William Howard Taft came to Springfield while they held the high office to pay their respects. Taft was the only president who was here on Lincoln's birthday anniversary.

Woodrow Wilson laid a wreath on the tomb when he was a candidate for office, and Calvin Coolidge paid his respects on February 12, 1922, when he was vice-president.

On June 17 Governor Louis L. Emmerson will be host to President Hoover and governors of states linked with the history of Lincoln and his family in a ceremony that will be an occasion of international importance.

To Arrive Early

The President and Mrs. Hoover with a large party of government officials are expected to arrive here either the night before or early in the morning of June 17. The program at the tomb probably will take place in the afternoon and the presidential party may be taken to Old Salem State Park in the morning. Open air exercises likely will be held at Oak Ridge cemetery with the president speaking from the promenade path around the tomb. Old Glory and the flags of other states will rest on a pedestal in a semi circle in the sarcophagus chamber with the President's colors. Flags from Pennsylvania, Indiana, Massachusetts, New Jersey, Virginia and Kentucky will be added.

The resting place of Lincoln is visited each year by hundreds of thousands of tourists from all parts of the world. A $175,000 appropriation by the General Assembly made possible the present reconstruction. Last year there were 141,000 visitors at the tomb.

The history of the monument presents one of the interesting chronicles of the United States. At noon on April 15, 1865, following receipt of news telling of the death of Lincoln, hundreds of citizens gathered at the State House, now Springfield's court house. A committee was appointed to act in bringing his body here for burial. Although Mrs. Lincoln had expressed preference for Chicago, and Washington also wanted the body buried there, Mrs. Lincoln, finally gave her consent for burial here.

Immediately there was formed the Lincoln Monument association to select a spot for the deposit of the remains. Collection of funds for the tomb had been in progress six weeks before Oak Ridge was definitely chosen as the site.

Interest Declined

By the close of the first year, public interest had declined and at the end of 1866 there was only $75,000 in the treasury. The original goal was $250,000. The general assembly in 1867 appropriated $50,000, later Missouri appropriated $1,000 and in 1870, Nevada set aside $900. In the meantime New York had appropriated $10,000, conditioned upon the raising of $240,000 by the association.

Larkin G. Meade, Jr., of Brattleboro, Vermont, made the design which was selected for the original monument. The statue of Lincoln and the group statues to be delivered by Meade were to cost $13,700 each.

On September 9, 1869 ground was broken for the foundation and the monument was not entirely completed until October 1, 1871. Unveiling of Meade's statue of Lincoln and the dedication took place October 15, 1874. Eighteen years after the project was commenced the tomb was completed.

Difficulty in maintenance of the monument caused the association to transfer it to the state on July 9, 1895, and shortly after that time $100,000 was appropriated for rebuilding it. Originally the central obelisk was constructed on a foundation extending to the bed rock, but the other footings were simply excavated in the clay. The entire monument in 1896, excepting the shaft, was torn down and rebuilt on a bedrock foundation and a new section was added to the shaft, increasing its height fifteen feet. By June 1, 1901 it stood forth as seen prior to the present reconstruction.

Series Of Accidents

Lincoln's body was brought from Washington and laid in a temporary receiving vault near the monument. When the tomb was completed the remains were removed from this vault to the monument. Thereafter a series of accidents occurred to the various caskets in which Lincoln was laid, culminating in a nearly successful attempt to steal his body in 1876. After this several Union men of Springfield were fearful that the thieves would come again, and to safeguard Lincoln's remains nine citizens organized the Lincoln Guard of Honor.

This band at midnight secretly reburied the body from the sarcophagus and hid it in an underground cellar in another part of the monument, where it remained for ten years, sometimes hidden under a heap of lumber, sometimes merely under a blanket and sometimes in a shallow grave on the damp floor.

The tomb custodian tried to keep up the fiction that Lincoln's remains really lay in the official catacomb above the ground, but his attempts to carry out this "pious fraud," as it was called by Lloyd Lewis, only served to heighten the suspicion that the body had been stolen. Partly to still these nation wide whispers and partly to give the dead man a decent burial the Guard of Honor in 1886 exhumed the body from the cellar and placed it in the catacomb where a stronger tomb had been prepared. This grave was abandoned in 1889 when the monument was torn down to be reconstructed.

In 1901 when the rebuilt monument was completed, the embalmer's only surviving son, Robert, gave funds so that it would be impossible ever to move the body again. Set in a steel cage and wall in with cement the casket was placed where it remains today, in the heart of a great boulder, ten feet underground, beneath the monument.

Another Of Klein Slayers Located

Joliet, Ill., April 24—(AP)—James Price, one of seven convicts involved in an escape from the Illinois state penitentiary here in 1926 which resulted in the killing of Deputy Worden Peter M. Klein, has been found serving a sentence for burglary at Sing Sing prison. It was said at the State's Attorney's office that he will be brought back here to face trial for the murder of Klein.

Four of the seven convicts involved in the killing hanged, another was killed during the attempted escape, and the sixth, Bernardo Roca sentenced to hang with the other four, escaped from the county jail, and is a fugitive.

Price, committed to Sing Sing, March 31 of this year, is serving a sentence of three to six years for burglary under the name of Frank Meadows. He was identified through finger prints by the National Bureau of Identification at Washington. He was sentenced to Joliet from Winnebago county.

He came to Milwaukee April 18 with Miss Lee Jordan and stayed at the home of her sister-in-law Mrs. Walter Schultz until yesterday when he and Miss Jordan registered at the hotel in separate rooms.

Miss Jordan said Riton had been brooding over charges he faced in an automobile accident in which he had struck a pedestrian and for which he was under $1,000 bond to be tried this week.

VOLIVA SELECTS HIS SUCCESSOR AS CULT LEADER

Says He Will Retire As Overseer Next July To Travel

Zion, Ill., April 24—(UP)—Wilbur Glenn Voliva, Overseer of the Christian Catholic Apostolic Church, has announced he will turn over active control of Zion to Apostle W. J. Minter next summer and devote the remainder of his life to spreading his religion throughout the world.

The famous Overseer refused recent reports that he was dying by appearing publicly, naming his successor, and vowing he "never will go near a bathtub again" although he expects to live 45 years longer or until he is 105 years old.

Voliva, who preaches that the world is flat and sailed around it last year to prove he is right, said he had made a will transmitting all the church property to Minter, whom he will name formally next July as his successor.

He said there should be no opposition to his action, because "the sheep are all subservient to the shepherd," and that it was his wish Minter should succeed him.

"Recent reports that I was dying were false," said Voliva after explaining his address would be the "most important" of his career.

"I shall not die until 1976," he continued. "I was a silly fool to scald myself and will never go near a bathtub again as long as I live."

Voliva announced that all business interests of Zion had been incorporated at $5,000,000, that $2,000,000 worth of stock would be sold and that Zionites would have the first chance to buy.

Minter was named Vice-President of the new corporation. Voliva said that after he turns control over to Minter, he will visit all Capitals of the world and found missions in all countries.

He is taking every possible precaution, he said, to make sure that under no circumstances will any outsider ever be able to break up the Zion organization, which he said was started 25 years ago without capital and which now is estimated to be worth between $5,000,000 and $10,000,000.

Voliva's remarkable business success, his theory that the world is flat, and other teachings far removed from those of other faiths, have made him one of the most widely known cult leaders in the world.

Among the business enterprises of the church here are a large candy factory, a bakery, a curtain factory, garages, a creamery, stores of various kinds, oil and gas stations. The church owns much real estate. Voliva said all profits earned since he started the church have been turned back into the organization.

Strict laws are enforced under Voliva. Large signs at the city limits of Zion proclaim that it is an offense either to smoke or swear within the city.

Voliva said all profits earned since he started the church have been turned back into the organization.

Story Of Attack On Winemaker Proven A Hoax By His Death

Chicago, April 23—(UP)—Joseph Lagen, 55-year-old winemaker, died in a hospital today of a stab wound which he had attributed to extortionists, but which a coroner's jury was told was self-inflicted.

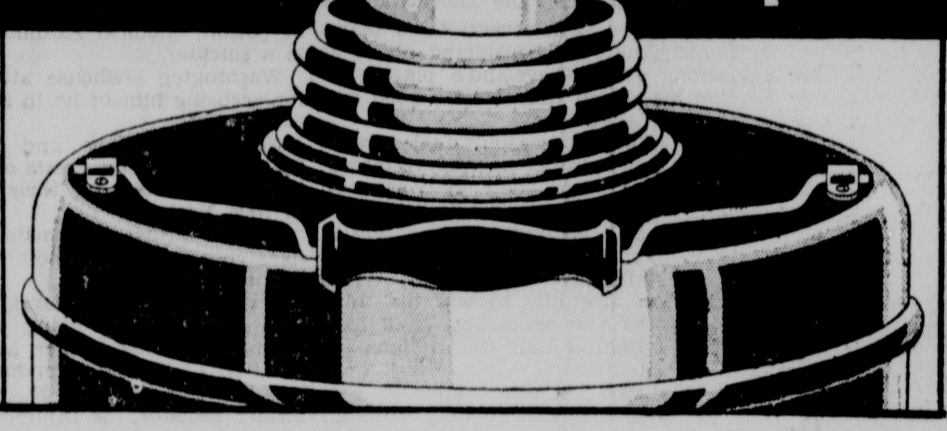

Lagen was picked up Tuesday at the door of the hospital, seriously wounded. His face and neck had been burned by what he said was an "inflammable acid," thrown by two gangsters who knifed him.

Police Captain William Stapleton produced five witnesses who said that Lagen had been burned when his celluloid collar was ignited by a cigar and that he had no other injury when they directed him to the hospital.

The fact that a blood-stained knife was found in Lagen's pocket and that he was of a melancholy turn of mind was submitted by Capt. Stapleton as indicating the winemaker stabbed himself.

BERG FAVORITE TO DEFEAT TONY IN STADIUM BOUT

Two Titles At Stake In Fistic Encounter In Chicago Tonight

Associated Press Sports Writer
Chicago, April 24.—(AP)—Tony Canzoneri, lightweight champion of the world, will match his title against the junior welterweight crown owned by Jack (Kid) Berg of Whitechapel, England, tonight in the Chicago Stadium.

Canzoneri, one time holder of the world featherweight championship, will be defending his latest title for the first time since he won it from Al Singer last November, and if the betting odds are indicative of the outcome, the lightweight title will take a trip to England the next time Berg goes home. The slambang Britisher today was held a 7 to 5 favorite to defeat the New York Italian by a decision at the end of the 10-round engagement.

Canzoneri's title was dragged into the argument when Berg, who has done his fighting at 138-40 pounds, made the lightweight limit of 135 pounds to get a crack at the more expensive crown.

Canzoneri, however, believed that making the weight had done the Britton no good and was confident he would win by a knockout within five rounds.

Berg, who scored a decisive victory over Canzoneri in New York before the latter won his title, said that making weight had done no harm and that he expected to repeat without extraordinary difficulty.

Both Are Aggressive
Both are aggressive fighters and the meeting tonight promises to provide more action than any lightweight title fight since the division championship began bobbing around like a cork on a wave. However, in spite of the prospect of a great fight and an excellent supporting card, the attitude of the customers, especially the one and two-dollar ones, has been apathetic.

Where the last lightweight title battle, between Sammy Mandell and Canzoneri, then the challenger, drew in excess of 136,000, tonight's production may not attract more than 15,000 spectators and $65,000. With the seats scaled at from $2 to $10.00, including tax, the higher priced seats have sold well, but there were many of the others to be had today.

Canzoneri, who has displayed even harder punching power in training to somewhat offset signs of slowing legs, will bank on an early knockout. If he fails, Berg, who appears to improve as he goes along, is expected to blast out a decision.

The supporting card will include six of the outstanding youngsters in the lightweight division. The semi-final eight-round will be between Tony Herrera, Mexican puncher, and Steve Halako of Auburn, N. Y., while Barney Ross of Chicago will tackle Lud Abella of Spain, and Harry Dubinsky, another promising Chicagoan, will meet Roger Bernard, rugged Detroit lightweight, in eight rounds.

How They Compare

Basketball Gossip

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

The ball players who are trying to get their teams into the American League pennant race this year are inclined to fear the Cleveland Indians more than several other teams which the fans considered about as strong. And Cleveland's playing so far has shown they have a good reason for that fear.

Escaping the season's first general deluge of postponements yesterday, the Indians won their sixth game in a row to take undisputed possession of second place. Wesley Ferrell, star hurler of the fine Cleveland staff, gave the Chicago White Sox just five hits to win his third victory of the season by an 8 to 2 score. Behind him the Indians hit safely 13 times.

This was just one sample of how Cleveland has been going through the early games. Ferrell has hurled two full games and parts of two others winning three and losing one. Brown Harder and Hudlin also have given Cleveland some good hurling. The batters with the recruit Joe Vosmik setting the pace also have been going at a great clip. Only three times in their nine games have the Indians failed to connect for ten or more hits.

Yesterday's other game produced a tight game between the St. Louis Browns and Detroit Tigers two teams which have shown signs of being dark horses in the pennant race but have not had much chance to display the degree of darkness.

Tom Bridges, the Tigers' recruit hurler, had the better of the mound duel with southpaw Walter Stewart, who pitched his third full game of the season. Bridges allowed only four hits and Stewart five, two of which came together to give Detroit a 1 to 0 decision.

Three successive postponements apparently had taken some of the sharpness of the Browns' batting eyes, for it was the first time they had fallen below even hits a game. Rain and cold weather throughout the major portion of the country caused the postponement of all National League games and two in the American.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

Wesley Ferrell, Indians.—Beat White Sox with five hits and fanned eight to win third victory of the season, 8 to 2.

Johnny Hodapp, Indians.—Hit three singles, sacrificed and was hit by a pitched ball in five times up against Chicago.

Tom Bridge, Detroit.—Shut out Browns with four hits to win, 1 to 0. Charley Gehring, Detroit.—Doubled off Stewart and scored on Alexander's single for only run against St. Louis.

TO TRY AGAIN

Pittsburgh, Apr. 24.—(AP)—Pa. Pitt. having grabbed his heaves out of the moth ball, prepared to hustle out to Forbes Field again today, where the Pirates and the Chicago Cubs are to make their third attempt to open Pittsburgh's baseball season. The same ceremonies announced for Wednesday and yesterday were slated for today. French, for the Pirates; Blake, for the Cubs, were to be the pitchers. The weather man said the weather would be fair—but cold.

Manager Jewel Ems saw something like a silver lining in the dark clouds that hung over the district most of this week. The ailing George Grantham, second baseman, has had two extra days to recover, as have several sick men on the curving staff.

Schmeling Thinks Best Man Will Win

French Lick, Ind., Apr. 24.—(AP)—Max Schmeling, present king of the heavyweights, believes the "best man" will win his bout with W. L. "Young" Stribling at Cleveland July 3, but of course he believes Herr Maxie himself is the person to whom he is referring.

He has seen Stribling fight and does not hold him lightly. He knows the Georgian is strong and tricky, but the German expects to wear him down over the 15-round route. He doesn't believe Stribling will hit as hard as Jack Sharkey did.

"I think it's going to be a good fight in Cleveland," he said. He admitted the possibility of losing, of course, and said in that event he would fight three or four more times in this country to merit a return match with the champion next summer.

Schmeling does not rate the main event, Primo Carnera, so highly. The Italian is scheduled to meet the winner of the Schmeling-Stribling encounter.

Schmeling is at French Lick Springs resting before beginning an exhibition tour. The resting consists almost entirely of golf. The German is no Bobby Jones but of course Bobby is not much of a heavyweight champ either. Max's best score so far over the course here is 93.

Big Ten Baseball Teams Get Going

Chicago, Apr. 24.—(AP)—Wisconsin's baseball team came to Chicago today to open its defense of the Western Conference title while Minnesota and Ohio State faced the opening of their campaigns against Northwestern and Indiana respectively.

The Badgers had their pitching ace, Jake Sommerfeld, who helped Maurice Farber hurl Wisconsin to the title ready to pitch against the Maroons today.

Wisconsin will go to Illinois tomorrow to try to upset what appears to be the best Illini team in several years. Illinois today led the Big Ten with two victories in as many starts. Northwestern entertained Minnesota today, with the second game of their series to be played tomorrow, while Ohio State was at Indiana for games today and tomorrow.

Michigan will open up tomorrow at home against Iowa.

SCORES OF CITY OFFICIALS FACE VARIOUS CHARGES

Investigations Under Way In Many Large Cities Of United States

(Copyright, 1931, By United Press)
New York, April 24.—(UP)—Official conduct of executives in a score of more of American cities is under investigation, with some indictments already returned, some officials already jailed and others facing ouster charges, a United Press survey today showed.

Charges of graft, misfeasance, neglect of duty and inefficiency are included in the briefs drawn against officials in cities scattered from the Pacific to the Atlantic coasts and from Chicago to the Gulf.

A demand has gone to Governor Roosevelt for removal of Mayor James J. Walker of New York City on charges of misfeasance. A legislative investigating body has been assigned to inquire into affairs of the city administration and already hearings are under way on the fitness of District Attorney Thomas C. T. Crain to hold office. Police have been dismissed in connection with charges that they "framed" innocent girls on prostitution charges. Two patrolmen have been found guilty of perjury. Alleged rackets are under survey of grand juries.

In the nation's second largest city—Chicago—a special grand jury is investigating bank accounts of policemen. "From Commissioner J. H. Alocik down" Already 237 banks have been ordered to send in records of the bank accounts of 17 police captains. One police captain whose annual salary is $4,000 is to be questioned over the fact that he has banked $100,000.

Public hearings started today in Los Angeles into charges that the General Hospital is inefficiently administered by Dr. N. N. Wood after detectives under the direction of F. L. Shaw are alleged to have discovered that hospital supplies totaling $500,000 had been taken by employees. Shaw resigned from the Public Welfare committee when a motion for dismissal of Wood failed to carry.

Near Los Angeles there is a fight on following dismissal of Dr. K. L. Scudder, Superintendent of Whittier School for Boys, a state reformatory. Friends have rallied to Scudder's aid.

State Treasurer, Larry Brunk of Missouri awaits impeachment trial on a charge of misappropriating $25,000 of state money and accepting $10,000 in connection with the approval of questionable bonds as security for state bonds. State Representative E. L. Britain also is charged with accepting a $400 bribe from Brunk to influence the House committee which investigated Brunk's activities. State Representative Clifford Rens of St. Louis is accused of forging the name of a House Representative clerk to a payroll warrant, and awaits trial.

Portland Probe On
At Portland, Ore., a grand jury for more than a month has investigated gambling allegedly under police protection but no indictments have been returned.

At Racine, Wis., William Armstrong, for 10 years Republican mayor, withdrew from the campaign and helped elect a socialist mayor. This came after a taxpayers suit charged Armstrong was the William Lee Company from which the city purchased foundry castings. This suit has not been settled.

A grand jury is expected soon to begin investigation of the Detroit police department against which many charges have been made since the slaying of Jerry Buckley, radio announcer.

Charge Extortion
In Boston, Oliver B. Garrett, former head of the police liquor squad, goes on trial next month for the third time on charges of extortion.

Exact Method Of Roasting Coffee Perfects Flavor
Controlled Roasting, Patented by Hills Bros., Gives Flavor No Other Coffee Has

To sip a cup of Hills Bros. Coffee after drinking other brands is a most revealing experience. There is a wealth of full-bodied, savory flavor that is almost startling. What's more, it is a different flavor.

The way Hills Bros. Coffee is roasted is responsible for this deliciously different goodness. Instead of being roasted in bulk—as most coffees are—Hills Bros. rare blend passes through the roasters, evenly—continuously—a little at a time.

The chief factor in the success of this process is the perfect control of the flow of coffee and of the heat. This insures an even roast such as the bulk method can never equal. The ultimate result is a matchless, uniform flavor in every pound.

In order to keep their delicious coffee fresh, Hills Bros. pack it in vacuum. Air, which destroys the flavor of coffee, is completely extracted from the can, and kept out by this process. Ordinary cans, even if air-tight, do not keep coffee fresh. Ask for Hills Bros. Coffee by name and look for the Arab—the trade-mark—on the can. Sold everywhere by grocers.

tion and conspiracy to extort money from a local hotel proprietor. Two previous trials ended in hung juries. Garrett's wife and a former checkroom attendant at the hotel are also accused. Among the testifies brought out was that Garrett's salary was $40 weekly but in course of a few years he banked more than $122,000.

At San Diego, Cal., George Moulton, former San Diego County assessor, was found guilty yesterday of charges of embezzlement of $25,000 of public funds. There will be a recall election there May 17 against County Supervisor E. A. Hornbeck, accused of extravagance and incompetency. The mayor and one city councilman recently were defeated for reelection in a clean government campaign.

May Recall Mayor
The Municipal Utilities Protective League of Seattle is circulating petitions now for recall of Mayor Frank Edwards on charges that he retained George B. Avery as Superintendent of the Street Railway when Avery was incompetent; that he attempted to hamper and cripple the city light system by dismissing the veteran superintendent J. D. Ross; that he purchased $10,000 worth of office furniture without bids or requisitions; and that the police department under his direction, permits gambling.

One city councilman and his business partner in Atlanta, Ga., are serving sentences on the chain gang as the result of the investigation under way there for 17 months. Eberly, extortion and jury tampering have been investigated. Thus far 53 indictments have been returned against aldermen, councilmen, the city clerk, city physician and purchasing agent. Eleven have been found guilty. Ten pleaded guilty. Seven men were acquitted and 19 still are to be tried.

Commissioner Removed
Park Commissioner George Fisk, of Buffalo, N. Y., was removed this week after Mayor Chase Roesch had asked for his resignation on grounds that after a year's probation he had failed to make good. Fisk declined to resign. Frederick Becker, Deputy Superintendent of Schools in charge of finances there resigned after the board inquired into his approving several split requisitions for lockers and furniture. Becker has been asked to appear before the board but is out of the city.

N. D. Troops Guard Alleged Murderer

Williston, N. D., April 23.—(AP)—North Dakota National Guardsmen today surrounded the Williams county jail here where James J. Bannan, 55, was committed late yesterday to await preliminary hearing on charges of being implicated in the sextuple murder of the A. L. Haven family near Schafer in February, 1930.

WOMAN CONVICTED

Chicago, Apr. 23.—(UP)—Mrs. Eulda Schroeder, former head of a Chicago mortgage firm, was convicted of embezzlement today by a jury in Judge Charles Williams' criminal courtroom, which deliberated 40 minutes before returning its verdict.

Mrs. Schroeder's attorneys made a motion for a new trial which Judge Williams will hear argued next Monday. Thirteen other indictments ap prehending against the woman financier, but no decision on whether they will be pressed has been made. The mortgage business which Mrs. Schroeder conducted in the loop was started as a reputable enterprise, but wound up with its woman president disposing of mortgages and converting the funds to her own use, the state charged. Losses of clients were estimated to total $650,000.

Daily Health Talk

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine
SMALL, BUT WHAT POWER!

It is generally believed that malaria was responsible for the fall of the civilization of Greece and the fall of Rome. It is thought also that malaria has been responsible for the destruction of modern communities and that it has controlled the victor in various wars.

Scientific medicine knows everything necessary to overcome malaria, provided that people in general will help and that funds will be available for applying the information that is established.

Practically no large city in the United States is disturbed by this problem, but the suburbs of cities and many small rural communities still have difficulty in combating this disease.

According to figures recently cited by Dr. J. A. Ferrell of the Rockefeller Foundation the death rate from malaria for the registration area of the United States was 2.2 in 1910; 1.7 in 1915; 3.4 in 1920; 2.0 in 1925; 3.6 in 1928.

In contrast with these figures the rates for Alabama, Florida, Louisiana, Mississippi, Missouri, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee and Texas were 17.2 in 1918; 16.0 in 1920; 6.3 in 1925; 10.3 in 1928 and 6.8 in 1929. Obviously the problem as it affects the United States today is largely a problem of the southern states.

Dr. Ferrell in his analysis of the situation points out that there was general interest in malaria and in measures for its control during the five-year period previous to 1920, and that as a result death rates fell rapidly and much was accomplished. However, in 1922, extra state agencies transferred their help to county health organizations and the rates since that time have not been in the least spectacular.

Dr. Ferrell feels that the factors involved in the general recession of malaria have not been convincingly evaluated. The extension of drainage and agriculture seems to have helped, but the influence of rain fall during the breeding season of the mosquito, that transmits the disease seems to be the most important single factor. It is quite likely that the great drought of 1930 may be responsible for the general downward trend, but this is not certain.

Exactly as economic distress is associated with an increase in all of those diseases that are associated with poor nutrition and bad housing, so also an increase in malaria is definitely associated with the conditions that interfere with the application of malaria prevention.

In times when natural causes do not favor recesses of the disease, health forces must redouble their activities. Knowledge is available to control diphtheria completely, but the disease is still with us. Knowledge is also available for the complete control of malaria, but it remains for an educated public to apply that knowledge and to make available sufficient funds for health departments to carry out the necessary epidemiologic precession.

Body Of Missing Inspector Found

Chicago, April 23—(AP)—The body of William Kegg, 26, an insurance inspector of Chicago, missing since Saturday when he set sail from South Haven, Mich., in a 20-foot sloop, was taken from Lake Michigan yesterday.

Kegg, an employee of the Lumberman's Mutual Association of Mansfield, Ohio, bought the sloop last week and went to South Haven to sail it home Saturday. He did not expect to reach here until Sunday. His friends did not become alarmed until Tuesday when a general search was started. The body was found near the water logged craft three miles off South Chicago harbor.

Two Missionaries Freed By Bandits

Mankow, China, April 23—(AP)—Lutheran mission headquarters received advice from Kingchow saying two missionaries, Miss Esther Nordlund, American, and Miss Augusta Nelson, Swedish, were released today by bandits who kidnapped them April 17. Headquarters of the mission are at Chicago.

The dispatch gave no details and did not mention the Rev. Oscar Anderson, Swedish missionary kidnapped at the same time.

The releases which came unexpectedly are thought to have resulted from provincial military pressure against the brigands.

The captors had demanded $100,000 Mexican (about $21,000 gold) ransom.

Commander British Air Defenses Dead

Seahurst Park, Sussex, England, Apr. 23—(AP)—Air Vice-Marshal Felton Vesey Holt, Commander of the air defenses of Great Britain, was killed today in an airplane collision. He was pilot, Flight Lieutenant Henry Moody, also was killed but the occupant of the other plane escaped injury.

Vice Marshall Holt was one of the pioneers of the Royal Air Force and had received the Distinguished Service Order for valor. He was promoted to his present post on January 1.

CALMLY TELLS OF DISEASE HE SAYS WILL KILL

Missionary Relates the Progress Of Dread Unusual Disease

Cleveland, April 24 —(UP)—The Rev. Ralph Thurber, Korean Missionary, calmly discussed with physicians a rare disease which he expects will take his life within a month.

Known as distomiasis, the disease is not uncommon in the orient but rarely found in America, physicians said. It is contracted from eating a certain type of fish, peculiar to oriental waters.

While physicians were coping with the disease upon a scant knowledge of the subject and its treatment, the Rev. Thurber was aiding them with what information he possessed.

"I know quite a bit about distomiasis," he said, "having been in such close contact with others who have been afflicted with it. I doubt very much if I live longer than a month. It is usually fatal. One contracts it by eating certain fish which carries a small parasite. When the parasite gets into your system it lodges in the liver and reproduces itself."

During his ten years service in the missionary fields of Korea, Japan and China, he encountered many cases of the malady, the clergyman said. He knew of only five cases which have been reported in America.

Dr. H. J. Knapp, Health Commissioner, said the parasite is known as "liver fluke," which attacks the victim secondarily when the infected fish is eaten. No fish in the western world is known to carry the "fluke," Dr. Knapp said.

Wisconsin Police Captured Plotter

Neenah, Wis., April 24 —(UP)—Rouie Hassinger, 33, was captured Thursday, and held for questioning in connection with an alleged extortion plot, after police fired more than 80 machine gun bullets into his motor car to halt flight.

Hassinger had stopped his machine at a railroad crossing near here to pick up a package tossed as a decoy from a passenger train in accordance with an extortion threat received at the William Krueger Company of Neenah.

Policemen concealed in a nearby ditch shouted at Hassinger to halt. Instead, he leaped into his automobile and started to drive away. Several machine gun bullets pierced Hassinger's clothing before he surrendered.

The threatening letter received by the Krueger Company demanded $3,000 and the release from prison of Fred Runde, who was convicted several years ago of kidnapping

Frances Webb, daughter of the secretary of the company.

14 DEAD IN CRASH
Lille, France, April 23 —(AP)—Fourteen persons were reported killed and 20 injured today when a train struck an automobile bus near Formentelles. The locomotive was overturned.

The engineer's arm was torn off and he and the other injured were brought here.

The accident occurred on a small branch line. Witnesses said the bus, travelling at high speed, crashed into the train at a grade crossing.

John D. Sloan, Kona, Kay, coal miner, is the father of 34 children at the age of 54.

Author of "HEART HUNGRY," etc.

BEGIN HERE TODAY
GYPSY MORRIS, 19-year-old New York City girl, married JIM WALLACE, the day after she meets him at the home of her wealthy cousin.

GRUDGE. Gypsy has been litted by ALAN CROSBY, just returned from a year and a half in the United States Army. Gypsy has broken her engagement to marry a richer man.

Months past and Brock Phillips is killed in a fall from a horse. Gypsy consults Jim about financial affairs and later tells him her marriage to Phillips was a mistake.

The decision she cares only for him. But because she believes Jim has taken Maria Phillips, she is determined to drive her home from a shopping trip to the city.

Jim is attentive during the days while the money is being earned. Gypsy comes to see Gypsy and tells her she loves her. Jim's arrival interrupts the interview. Gypsy promises to meet Alan Monday afternoon. She keeps the appointment.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER XLV
GYPSY paused on the threshold of the large room and surveyed it. She could not have told what prompted her to suggest this meeting place. Perhaps it was Alan's interest in art. The room was used to exhibit traveling collections of paintings. Gypsy had been there once before to see the work of a group of Mexican artists.

The place had been almost deserted then. Now several couples were studying the pictures, standing or else leaning back in the row of camp chairs down the center of the room.

She saw Alan and her heart quickened its beat. His back was toward her. Alan appeared to be absorbed in a canvas. He stood almost in the center of the room. How slender and well built he looked in the gray suit.

"Well, I've come," she said in a low voice.

He turned, smiling. "And I've been waiting since before three."

Two young women who looked as though they might be school teachers passed in front of them, sat down near by.

Crosby glanced down at Gypsy. "Isn't there some place," he asked, "where we might have a little more privacy?"

Gypsy nodded. "We'll try to find some place. This won't do."

They left the exhibition room. Outside a broad balcony looked down over the central office of the library. At the far end of the balcony there was a bench. Gypsy and Alan walked toward this bench and sat down.

"Now before you begin," Crosby said, trying to keep his voice low. "I want to tell you that the very day you left New York—the same day you were married, I guess—I tried to find you to tell you I was sorry for what had happened. I telephoned and Mrs. O'Hare told me you'd gone away. She wouldn't say where. It was after I went back there—after I lost my job—that she told me the real truth. Gypsy, whatever made you do it?"

"Do what?"

"Run away from me the way you did. Without even saying goodby."

"But, Alan, I didn't think you'd be interested. There was your new friend, Mrs. Langley."

"Are you trying to remind me what a fool I've been? I admitted it, didn't I? Mrs. Langley? She was the worst of the lot, Gypsy. It was her fault I lost my job. She was the one who told me running around to parties all night was the way to get ahead in New York. Well, it wasn't long before she was through with a penniless artist! Picked up a violinist who could write love songs for her."

Suddenly Crosby stopped talking and looked at the girl. "What's the good of going on this way, Gypsy?" he said then pleadingly. "I've told you everything I've tried since you went away. I've been a failure. I've cursed myself a thousand times for an idiot. It isn't too late, darling. It isn't too late if we both have the courage! I—I love you so much!"

AIRPLANE RACE AROUND WORLD IS TO START FRIDAY

Two Ships Expected To Get Away From Los Angeles In Week

By PERCY RICHARDS

United Press Staff Correspondent
Los Angeles, April 24—(UP)—
Honor and wealth await the winners of an airplane race around the world which will start from here
probably next Friday.

Four noted aviators, who are supervising last minute preparations for the circumnavigation of the globe with a ten day record as the objective, announced today they expected to get away about May 1.
The competitors are John Henry Mears, who has twice broken the
around-the-world record; Vance Breese; Wiley Post, veteran speed pilot and Harold Gatty, who attempted a trans-Pacific flight with Lieut. Harold Bromley.

Post's reward will be $20,000 if he completes the around the world
flight. P. C. Hall, Oklahoma City oil magnate, owner of the plane, has promised that amount.

Mears said he did not plan to make a non-stop trans-Pacific flight
for the $25,000 offered by a Japanese newspaper for such a feat. He will make the flight simply to regain the record, but his pilot Breese
probably will share in the commercial contracts that usually follow
such flights.

To Fly In Paris
Post and Gatty will fly together
as will Mears and Breese.

Mears and Breese have been here
for some weeks watching the construction of the Vespa plane at the Lockheed Aircraft Corporation factory. Post will have larger fuel tanks installed in his monoplane,
Winnie Mae, at the Lockheed plant.

Both planes are expected to be ready for the around-the-world
flight at about the same time so that the race will not only be again
at time but also plane against plane.

The planes will be able to develop a speed of 200 miles an hour
and cruise at 170 miles under power
from 450-horsepower engines.

Embodied in this sky marathon
are the thrills of transoceanic hops,
quick landings, refuelings and take offs and above all the thrill of two planes tracing new sky trails at record breaking speeds.

One of the longest ocean hops
planned by Post is a nonstop flight
of 2,840 miles from Harbor Grace, Newfoundland, to Berlin, Germany.
Mears has not yet announced his plans regarding this hop. It is possible that he may make a shorter flight for the sake of safety over Spain.

In both cases the fliers will have to make long ocean hops of which the trans-Pacific flight offers the most difficulties.

Should either pair of contestants
encircle the world in 10 days they will cut by more than half the existing record of 21 days held by the Craf Zeppelin.

Your FLOWER GARDEN

By D. VICTOR LUMSDEN
Bureau of Plant Industry, U. S.
Department of Agriculture
Written Especially for NEA Service
and the Evening Telegraph.

Those who already have gardens
and ornamental plants growing
about their homes should not neglect the plants already established.
Shrubs which flower early are displaying blossoms from buds which formed last fall. Therefore, if you prune these shrubs before they flower you destroy flower buds

which add to the beauty of the plants if allowed to develop.

Since the early spring flowering shrubs grow in this way, the time to prune them is just after they have flowered and before they make much new growth of stem and leaf.
This will permit new growth during the summer and development of new blossom buds in the late summer for spring flowering.

In pruning flowering shrubs do not cut the ends off all of the branches so that you have nothing
but flat or rounded top shrubs.
Such a pruning is contrary to the growth habit of the plant.

Prune them by cutting the old est wood back to the ground and leave unpruned the younger branches. It is from the newer wood that the largest and greatest number of blossoms per inch of stem are produced.

Dead branches and any misdirected young growth which tends to cause congestion should also be removed.

Reducing Congestion
The most important aim to keep in mind in pruning flowering shrubs
is that the shrub, after it has been pruned, will have the same appearance it had before pruning except that the growth will not be so dense.

Like spring flowering shrubs,
bearded iris may need some attention just after they have blossomed.
This herbaceous perennial responds most favorably after division and transplanting, if the work is done
in the late spring just after flowering.

If your clumps of iris have grown crowded so that the rhizomes are crowded and the flowers are getting smaller each year the plants will benefit if they are dug up, divided and reset.

Place the divisions in a new location where the soil has plenty of organic matter. Crop rotation is as effective with flowers as it is with farm crops.

Support for Peonies
Peony varieties that bear larger flowers than the stems can support
in heavy winds and beating rains, must have supports. These can be made by driving four stakes at equal distances just outside the outermost stems of the plant and surrounding these stakes with cord or wire.

If the stems are very weak, additional support can be supplied by passing cords between the stalks,
and fastening the cords to diagonally opposite stakes.

If you want large blossoms on your peonies, remove the lateral buds as soon as they are the size of large peas. This will direct all blossom development to the terminal flower buds.

Cut the stems of the lateral buds down close to the point where they leave the main stem.

Big Bond-Mortgage Company Under Fire

Washington, Apr. 23—(AP)—The Justice Department today laid plans for a general investigation of the American Bond & Mortgage Company, characterized as a $100,000,000
concern with activities in half a dozen of the largest cities.

Word came from federal officials recently that incidental inquiry had been made into the concern's activities. It was said authoritatively today, however, that due to a new
"flood of complaints" from stockholders there "undoubtedly will be a general investigation."

It was said officially that United States attorneys in several cities had received complaints and had begun investigations of the company's activities in their own particular sections.

Postoffice inspectors, particularly in New England, it was said, also have made inquiry to ascertain whether the company's sales activities have violated mail laws.
